

the fertility advocate

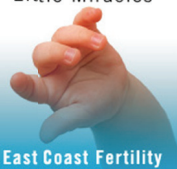

Talking, Writing, Educating,
and Change Making in
The Field of Fertility for More
Than 20 Years

Pamela's New Memoir

Click Here

Egg Dreams
Make
Little Miracles

Read Dr. Dave Kreiner's
Fertility Blog

The Journey
To The Crib
Fertility Talk

With Dr Dave and Pam
Click Here To Watch
The New Video Series

Face of Fertility

A place for all communities to discuss their challenges with having a baby

NY State IVF Grants
Call East Coast Fertility
(516) 939-BABY-2229
for an application

The Fertility Advocate Says "YES" to YES Baby!

As a fertility and sex educator – I think about "intimacy" products such as "personal lubricants" because they can be very important when it comes to our sexual satisfaction and for conception. The fact is, when it comes to TTC, what lubricant you use is vital. Most lubricants cannot be used when you are trying to conceive because they will simply knock the sperm out on their heads – and that will be that – end of conception story!

The other little known fact is that the vagina is very porous – and whatever products you use will be directly absorbed into your body. What would you like to be absorbed directly into your body – organic products or non organic chemicals? Thankfully – as of this week – we now have a lubricant that is organic and conception friendly!

I am talking about "YES Baby" – the world's first certified organic fertility-friendly lubricant system brought to us by YES Pure Intimacy (I do love their products – especially the new "introduction pack" because it is perfect for air travel! Just throw a few of those in your bag and you can glide right through security!) But I digress....

YES Baby is a unique, patented two part conception system that creates the optimal environment for sperm, and then restores the vaginal environment to its typical protective pH after ovulation. As the only certified organic lubricant system of its kind in the world the product offers "guaranteed purity". Don't you want "guaranteed purity" when you are making a baby?

And as if finding a lubricant that will help us have better sex while trying to conceive, without the killing of the sperm thing, – or turning you body into a chemical waste land – was not enough - this kit comes with ovulation strips to help identify the most fertile days in a woman's cycle. That's why YES Baby call's it a "two-part system".

According to the YES Baby press release:

"Recently published statistics indicate that as many as one in three couples experience difficulties in conceiving, with 75% of women trying to conceive reporting an increased incidence of vaginal dryness, often caused by the stress of making love by the calendar. Many of these couples trying to conceive (TTC couples) use synthetic conventional lubricants that damage or inhibit sperm. Yes Baby is formulated for sperm longevity and offers the first certified organic conception-friendly system, representing an advance on the conventional lubricants and sperm-friendly lubricant products on the market. These are chemically formulated, and while they raise the vaginal pH to enable sperm survival, they fail to address the need to restore the vagina to its natural pH after use, and can leave the vagina open to infections such as Bacterial Vaginosis and Thrush.

The medical profession and consumers are now more aware that products with synthetic ingredients used intimately and internally can add to the couples' chemical body burden. Yes Pure Intimacy has risen to the challenge of creating a premium, pure, plant based product using only natural botanical organic ingredients and is the only Soil Association certified fertility-friendly product available in the world".

The first part of the Yes Baby dual system, with seven Yes Baby pre-filled applicators containing sperm-friendly organic lubricant, is used during the woman's most fertile period to support conception and pleasurable intercourse.

The second part of the dual system includes three pre-filled applicators containing vagina-friendly organic moisturising lubricant that restores the vagina to its natural, post ovulation pH. This essential rebalancing of the pH ensures a healthy environment for the implantation of the egg, and protects against vaginal infections".

Yes Baby gets The Fertility Advocate's vote for one of the best new conception friendly products released in 2010!

SHARE Facebook Twitter Google+

Posted under "YES BABY", Ovulation Predictor Kits, Sperm Friendly Lubricant, Vaginal Dryness

This post was written by pmadsen on April 13, 2010

Tags: "YES BABY", Bacterial Vaginosis, conception, fertile, Fertility, Organic Lubricant, ovulation, personal lubricant, Sex, sex educator, Sperm, Thrush, Trying to Conceive, TTC, Vagina

Search

PERSONAL LUBRICANT Go

Subscribe

- > MY Yawwoot
- > Google
- > Bloglines
- > newsdoctor
- > RSS

Bookmark

Book Pamela to Speak at Your Next Meeting!

Find me on Facebook

Follow Me on Twitter!

Recent Posts

- > Why Bigger Isn't Always Better - Check Out Micro IVF!
- > Infertility, Body Image, and the Transformational Power of Pleasure
- > From Infertility To Breast Cancer: What Things are "Okay Enough"
- > East Meets West Fertility Treatments Now Available on Long Island!
- > On Behalf of The Children - A Noble Peace Prize is Presented

Recent Comments

- > Infertility, Body Image, and the Transformational Power of Pleasure on Fertility Coaching
- > Staci on Zestra: A Big Bang In A Bottle!
- > Lisa Slack on On Behalf of The Children - A Noble Peace Prize is Presented
- > Edward J. Ramirez, MD on On Behalf of The Children - A Noble Peace Prize is Presented
- > pmadsen on Zestra: A Big Bang In A Bottle!