

THE SAFE NATURAL APPROACH TO VAGINAL DRYNESS

At the recent annual conference of the British Menopause Society, the subject of vaginal atrophy and its treatment during and after menopause was a key topic. As every woman will experience menopause and the stats tell us that 80% of these women will suffer dryness, it seems sound commercial sense for pharmacies to stock natural lubricants and moisturisers which can provide some relief for this debilitating symptom. Susi Lennox (pictured left) and chemist Sarah Brooks (right) developed Yes Organic Lubricants after more than three years of research to fill a gap in the market for a certified organic lubricant. Information and Yes samples will be available from Veggie-mart and from Suma and The Health Store stands at The Pharmacy Show.
